DISCIPLINE

DUTY OF TEACHER AND CLASSIFIED SCHOOL EMPLOYEES IN PROVIDING A SAFE DISCIPLINED SCHOOL ENVIRONMENT

Every teacher shall seek to provide a safe and well-managed classroom for all students. Student discipline is the responsibility of teachers and is directed by school district policy. Classified school employees shall have, as a minimum, the responsibility to appropriately assist and support teachers in these efforts.

STATEMENT OF MINIMUM AND MAXIMUM PENALTIES

Violation of any of the regulations may result in disciplinary action being taken against the student or students involved. In the case of minor infractions, a teacher may hold a conference with the student, contact the parent, come up with a behavior plan, or refer the student to the dean of students or principal, etc. If the principal reasonably feels that the misconduct involved warrants such punishment, he/she may: A. Assign in-school suspension, B. Suspend a student after the student has been given an opportunity to explain the charges made against him/her. The board of Education may suspend or expel a student for gross or repeated misconduct.

In School Suspension/ Out of School/ Suspension/Counseling Services

Each teacher should handle his/her own discipline problems if possible. The district provides in-service training for teachers directly related to good discipline. Each staff member shall participate in these.

If a student is disrupting the class, the teacher may send him/her to the principal's office once the office is notified on the intercom system. In this event, the teacher shall send a written message to the principal outlining the reasons for the student's removal from class, or report these reasons to the principal at the end of that class period, or other designated time. The student will be detained in the office for that period at the High School. The principal will determine the disciplinary procedure that fits the problem.

A. I.S.S. - Elementary, junior high and high school students can be assigned to I.S.S. Students should report when assigned with textbooks, paper, pencil and other assigned work. Failure to report, or do assignments, or misbehavior, will result in more severe penalties, including possible suspension. In School Suspension assignments may be in increments of three days, five days, seven days, and ten days. The principal or dean of students may assign a certain amount of days for certain offenses. When a student accumulates the assignment of ten days, a recommendation will be made for that student to be placed in OSS. Out of school suspensions may not be substituted for ISS.

B. Suspension - Students suspended will be sent home for the assigned number of days and cannot participate in any school activities or be on any school property. All work will be made up within the same amount of time the student is suspended and zeros will not be tolerated.

STUDENT CONDUCT INFORMATION

The school environment must be free from the distractions and turmoil generated by those individuals who have not developed the self- restraint and ability to make sound decisions, which are an integral part of the educational process. Each teacher is encouraged to manage his/her own discipline problems when possible. When a student continually chooses to disregard the rules and district policies of conduct he/she will be subject to disciplinary action as defined in this handbook.

The school district reserves the right to punish behavior that is subversive to good order and discipline in the schools even though such behavior is not specified in the following rules. Electronic communications that result in distractions and turmoil at the school will be dealt with as if the offense took place on school property. The minimum will be verbal reprimand and the maximum will be expulsion recommendation. Punishment may be greater or less in severity depending upon the individual situation. Students who are serving suspension may not attend any district activity.

CAMPUS AND CLASSROOM REGULATIONS

You, the student, need to realize that every teacher, administrator, and staff member on the Strong High School and Gardner Strong Elementary has authority over you while you are on campus. They are charged to enforce and uphold the school rules and regulations, and you are expected to obey the same. Students are expected to follow all classroom rules whether they are general or specific to the teacher or the class. Minor discipline problems will be handled according to the following protocol. All steps will be documented and kept by the teacher.

1. Student/Teacher conference documented by a classroom discipline slip. Parent phone call is required at this step. Keep the parents aware of student behaviors, both positive and negative.
2. Classroom discipline slip and parent notification by letter and phone call.
3. Classroom discipline slip and a student/parent/teacher or student/guardian/teacher conference. An individualized discipline plan (IDP) will be created during this conference.
4. Individualized discipline plans followed.
5. Referral sent to the Dean of Students or Principal with a copy of all previous documentations.
6. Severe disruptions will be referred directly to the office.

Note: Steps 1-4 are not required for severe disruptions.
