“By scripture's own test, the paddle fails.”

A former minister reads the rod verses honestly, then asks what the same Bible says about judging any discipline: by its fruit.

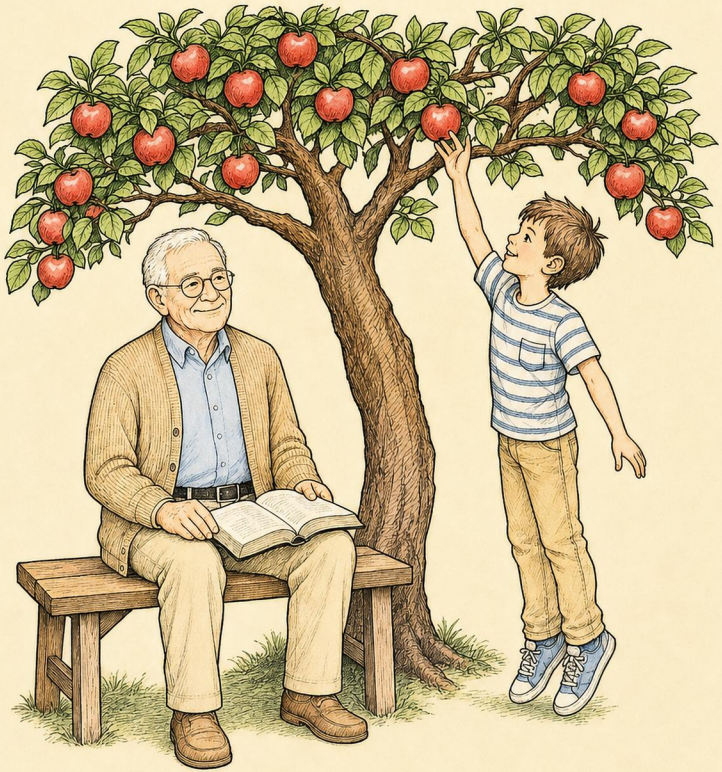

Written for pastors, Sunday school teachers, church members, and the believer on a school board in one of the seventeen states where a public school employee may still paddle a child. Every verse in the King James. Every figure tied to a verified source. Every church position read at the church's own site.

The first of the Safe Schools Guides. The model policy, the board motion and the ninety-day transition are in the Safe Discipline Program kit, free at earthpilot.org/kids/kit/, or scan the code.
